THE ELECTION.

Talbot Chosen to Represent This Constituency by a Large Majority Over John T. Moore.

So far as the vote is learned, P. Talbot is elected to represent this constituency by about 150 majority over John T. Moore. Owing to the condition of the roads and the inclement weather, only a partial vote was cast at the various polling divisions. The vote as far as we have been able to ascertain the returns was as follows

Concert Posiponed.

The school concert arranged for this evening and advertised in our local page has been indefinitely postponed by the teachers. The high water makes it impossible for many of the children to be in attendance, hence the postponement.

No Trains This Week.

No trains have been run on the C. & E. line all this week and the chances are none will be run till the first of next. The track in many places is in a precarious condition. The bridge over Nose creek, this side of Calgary, is entirely washed out. Construction trains are now at work repairing the track as rapidly as possible.

Horse Theft.

Wetaskiwin yesterday, driving a lad had no more than sold the ence in 'The Fatherhood of Man' likely that little difficulty will be be brought to a just account for his deed.

The following good advice is contributed by an able States exchange: Stick to your farm A $5,000 or $6,000 farm is far better, safer, surer, healthier investment than a town store with an equal investment of capital. The man behind the plow is more independent than the man behind the counter. It is just as honorable and just as dignified to plow and plant, to milk and mow, as it is to tie up sugar, hand down a spool of thread or put up a package of crackers. The farmer who can envy the merchant, the manufacturer, or the town worker in general, has certainly got a wrong view of his own

Additional Local. Mysesessessessessess

L. J. Dodd is stranded in Innisfail during the time the trains are not running.

W. L. Johnston has been hauling lime from Fairybank the past few days.

L. O. Neal of Aurelia, Iowa, was among the landscekers here the past ten days.

Arthur Dewhirst, Jr., living six miles east of town, is reported very low with pneumonia. Dr. Drinnan is in attendance.

Henry Hertz has the frame up for his building on the corner of Railway street and Chipman ave.

Case & Fisher expect to ship two cars of fine range-fatted steers to Vancouver as soon as the trains are in operation. *

Mrs. L. B. Matusch, who has been ailing for several weeks, is at this writing much worse. She is suffering from dropsy.

H. H. Gaetz, Fred Krause and Cronquist left for Red Deer-by tie pass -Thursday, after spending a week here in the interests of John T. Moore.

The election passed off quietly in Ponoka on Wednesday. Not many of the voters came in from the country and only sixty-five votes were cast at this polling division. John Barr was deputy returning officer, Eugene Rhian poll clerk, C. D. Algar and H. H. Gaetz agents and John and Dave Ross and George Horn scrutineers.

A Kansas editor tells in the following of joining another order: We took the second degree in that great universal order known as 'The Fatherhood of Man." the first of the week. This order has the same ritual, the same ceremony, the same joys and anguish is has had for thousands of years. A young man drove down from To be initiated into this order means a commingling of hope and gray and bay team, which he sold fear in this world and almost a here to E. C. Aylwin for $100. The glimpse of the next. The experiteam and crossed the river here in whatever degree -be it first, secthan a wire came from Wetaskiwin ond, third or more-leaves an into hold the young man and team, delible impression upon the mind The liveryman owning the team and heart. Our second degree incame down from Westaskiwin last itiation into this greatest of all ornight and now a search is being ders last Sunday morn, just at the made for the young culprit. It is break of day, was fruitful of a son -decreed by neighbors and kin to had in finding him and that he will be a heavyweight. He is doing well.

"But vhy not? It vhas der best book you effer read. If you read her once, you shall cry for one week. Hunt around und find me dot book."

'I can't do it." "Oh, you can't! You don't like to oblige me, eh? You like my custom, but you don't like to get me my book. All right. Cobbler, I can lick you in two minutes!"

"But vhy should you lick me?"

"Because you vhas a swindler und a pirate. From dis time on you look out. By jiminy, if I catch you down by der river you vhas a dead mans!"

One more person comes in. She vhas a womans. She haf a heel to put on a boy's shoe, und she says:

"Cobbler, you yhas der mans for me Vhile you fix dis shoe I shall sit down und read dot book called 'She Loved Him So.' It vhas all about a womans who loved a mans more ash twenty years. I don't know if it whas by Shakespeare, but she vhas all right."
She don't find dot book, und she likes me to go out after it, und vhen I don't go she screams und hollers und makes a great row, und more ash feefty peoples comes around und says vhas a bad man und a liar. Nopody goes avhay yet, und dot womans likes to kick my shop oafer, vhen der fat policemans comes oop und yells at me:

"Another row, eh? Cobbler, what whas all dis about?" "I haf some free library py Shake-

"Und who whas Shakespeare?" b yells ash he shakes his club at me. "I dunno.

"No, you don't know, und yet you ge some books by him und leaf me out. Does Shakespeare run dis ward?"
"I can't say,"

"Vhas he as big as I vhas?" "I dunno."

"Can dot Shakespeare make you shovel snow off der sidewalk or bring out your ash barrels? Can be put out a bonfire or stop a German band? Can he arrest a dog mitout any muzzle on or make a street car stand still? Speak up, cobbler, und tell me."

"I dunno." "Den I make you know!" he says, und he knocks me around till I vived dead und tells my wife dot vhen wake oop to say to me dot he vb come back next day und gif me a fe M. QUAD.

THE FOXY MAJOR.

HE ORGANIZES A NEW SYNDICATE FOR THE BENEFIT OF A CREDITOR.

The Grand Promoter Tries His Latest Bunko Game on Another Victim, Who Is Equal to the Occasion and Refuses to Bite.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis,]

T was a young man with long hair, well worn raiment and the enthusiasm of art in his eyes who knocked at Major Crofoot's office door and was bidden to enter. The major's face lighted up with pleasure as he turned from his desk, and he rose and advanced with outstretched hand and cheerily exclaimed:

"My dear boy, I was just this moment writing a note to ask you to call.

"SHAKE HANDS WITH ME."

Shake hands with me. Shake heartily. I think I have prepared an agreeable surprise for you.'

"Major Crofoot," replied the young man as he sat down stiffly, "four days ago I came here with three paintings for sale." "Four days ago exactly," said the major as he rubbed his hands together. "They were landscapes, gems of art, my own work." "Perfect gems, as I am glad to say." "You did not care to buy, but you told me you had a friend who would probably take the three and pay me a fair price for them.'

"I did, my boy, I did. You are per-fectly correct about that."
"I left them with you," continued the young man, "and the next day, as I learned, you ran them into a pawnshop. Sir, I am here to demand the return of the gems. It was a scoundrelly action on your part to pawn them."

"My dear boy, my dear boy, how glad I am that you called for an explana-tion." replied the smiling promoter as he paced up and down. "At the first go off my action appears inexcusable to you, but listen. I took you for a young man of perspicacity as well as born artist. I saw you looking about this somewhat dilapidated office. I saw you regarding my somewhat thread-bare wardrobe. I saw commisera-tion in your eye. When I pronounced your pictures perfect little gems, but informed you that I could not buy, I supposed that you caught on to the fact that I was temporarily hard up."

"Nothing of the sort," exclaimed the

"Then it was a mistake for which I beg your pardon, although I am not satisfied that it was a mistake. Knowing my financial situation, you desired to extend me aid, and it does you great credit that you extended it as you did. Instead of offering me money you left the pictures behind to be converted into oof. Sir, it was a master stroke on your part. Any other course would have humiliated me. I can scarcely think of it without tears starting to my eyes.

"A dollar and a half on three gems worth $25 each!" shricked the young man as he rose up.

"A dollar and a half from my uncle. soothingly replied the major. "He said he would like to advance $50 on them, but it was his busy day. The dollar and a half was enough, however. It pulled me out of a hole and turned the tide, and now your bread cast upon the waters shall return to you. You will not have to paint any more gems for a living. A month hence you will be president of a bank."

"Don't talk to me, you old scoundre!!
You lied to me and robbed me, and if there's any law in this country I'll have you behind the bars!"

"Yes, my dear boy," softly continued the major, "you will be a bank president and own your own yacht and a country residence. Yesterday I pro-moted the Old Boot and Shoe syndicate, with a capital of $1,000,000. The year in this world is 5,000,000,000 pairs. The number of these discarded pairs that can be cobbled up and resold again is 4,900,000,000 pairs. You buy up the discarded shoes for an average of 5 cents a pair. Your cobbling costs an average of 20 cents. Your sales average 40 cents, or a clean profit of 15 cents per pair. You can figure as well as paint. Tell me what the annual profit will be." well as paint. Tell me what the an-nual profit will be."

"Blast your old boots and shoes! I want my pictures!" shouted the young man as he got another fit.

"The profits will be millions, my dear boy, tens of millions, and all we have to do is to bank it as it comes in. We give employment to 500,000 buyers, to 500,000 sellers, to 1,000,000 cobblers. We are philanthropists as well as money makers-millions of money, my boy, and you shall be treasurer of the syndicate. When you left those gems behind me to pawn, when you relieved the financial situation so neatly and delicately, I made up my mind to do for you. Let me congratulate you, dear treasurer, heartily congratulate you. I shall ask for no bond, but repose perfect trust and confidence in you. Sell out your studio, throw away your brushes, get that green paint off your nose and pre-pare for the great change in sight."

"Look here now—I want my pic-eyes flashed in anger.

What Is the Shape of the Earth? The exact shape of the earth is a question which cannot be settled without fresh evidence from the antarctic. For this purpose two at least of the expeditions have been provided with pendulum outfits. By noting the exact length of time occupied by the swing of a pendulum the distance of the place of observation from the earth's center can be determined. It is held that the south polar region projects farther from the plane of the equator than does the north polar region. According to one estimate, the south pole is slightly more than one-hundredth further from the earth's center than the north pole.

The Art of Washing.

A school of instruction for laundry girls is to be established in Chicago. The School of Domestic Arts and Sciences established in that city a year and a half ago by a number of philan-thropic women is to bring about the innovation, and the laundry school is to be a department of this institution. Miss Isabel Bullard, head of the school, title is not a high sounding one, but says that washing is just as much of wait a minute. The number of old an art as making pie or baking bread, boots and shoes thrown away every "and as for ironing-that is a fine art."

MAKING BONELESS HAMS.

Housekeepers May Do It as Well as a Professional Eutcher.

Little though one may think, the process or making a boneless ham is quite a fine art and one that requires no small degree of skill in the under taking. In fact, it is not every one who can "bone" a ham successfully. In the event a housekeeper unfamiliar with the art of removing the bone from hams were to undertake the job she would be almost certain to begin operations by first of all splitting the ham open and endeavoring to carve out the bone by cutting around it. The result would be failure and vexation of the worst sort, to say nothing of a ruined ham. The proper way to remove the bone would never suggest itself to the average housekeeper.
The operator stands the ham on end against a supporting block and pro-ceeds to carve around the bone from one end as deep as it is possible for him to run his hand and knife down into the flesh and around the bone. Having reached the extreme limit (as far, in fact, as it is possible to extend the knife), he reverses the ham and begins cutting around the bone from the other end, cutting downward until he reaches the point that he attained in cutting from the end on which he began, the entire operation being scientifically correct and on the principle of skinning an animal. The bone then slips out clear and smooth, free from any adhering flesh.

As soon as this is done stout twine is wrapped around the ham and drawn completely closing the aperture left by the removal of the bone. The twine is thus made fast and the ham laid away for a day or two, at the end of which time the hole has closed so neatly that, in slicing the ham, it is difficult to determine the exact spot from which the bone was removed. This is the proper mode of making boneless ham, and with a little practice any housekeeper can learn to do the work as well as a professional butcher. They will observe that first of all the bone is surrounded by a tissue, and by starting the operation from the ends they will be surprised with what facility this tissue, dividing the bone from the flesh, peels loose from the former.

A CURE AND A FEE.

Peculiar Experience of a Doctor With a Business Man.

In conversation one day about the. peculiar views that commercial men sometimes entertain about professional services Dr. S. Weir Mitchell told tue following story:
"A very wealthy man from the west came to consult me about an attack of vertigo. He said that he had just returned from a trip to Europe, where he had consulted eminent specialists, but that they had falled to afford him any permanent relief. 'A physician in London,' he said, 'asked me why I did not make an attempt to be cured nearer home. I thought on my way out west I would stop over to see you.'

"'Has any physician you have visited looked into your ears?' I asked.

"'No,' was his reply.
"I made an examination of his ears, removed some wax and a substance that appeared to be hardened remnants of cotton wool. I sent him away then and told him to come again in a day or two. He did so.

"'Well,' he exclaimed, 'I am cured. How much do I owe you?" "'About $50,' I replied.

"As he drew a check he asked, 'Did you know when you first examined my ears that you could cure me?' "When I told him that I had a very fair conviction that I could, he said:

Well, you are a blanked fool. . You should have said to me: "I think I can cure you, and I will do so for $10,000. No cure, no pay." You would have got your money without a murmur.' "'Oh,' .1 said, 'if you feel that way about it there are several little chari-ties in which I am interested, and'-"'No, no," he interrupted, 'that is not business. I have my cure, and you have the price you asked. The transaction is closed."

Brass in England in Chaucer's Time.

A metal resembling brass, but said to have been superior in quality, was known in England as "maslin" as early as the time of Chaucer, and in the reign of Henry VIII. an act of parliament was passed prohibiting the export of brass out of England. Whether the earlier monumental brasses still to be found in our churches were made originally in England is not absolutely the probability, according to some antiquaries, being that they were of French or Belgian workmanship.

DEATH AND VICTORY

A Beautiful Easter Discourse by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD

The Christian View of Death as the Entrance to a Fuller Life-The Charge of the Black Giant-The Urn or the lomb -Rout of the King of Terrors-The Final Victory.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Can-ada, in the year 1902, by William Baily, of To-ronto, at the Dep't of Agriculture, Ollawa.

Washington, March 30 .- The Christian view of death as the entrance to a fuller life is presented in this Easter discourse by Dr. Talmage from the text, I Cor. xv, 54, "Death is swallowed up in victory."

About 1,870 Easter mornings have wakened the earth. In France for three centuries the almanacs made the year begin at Easter until Charles IX, made the year begin at Jan. 1. In the Tower of London there is a royal pay roll of Edward 1. on which there is an entry of 18 pence for 400 colored and pictured eggs, with which the people sported. In Russia slaves were fed and alms were distributed on Easter. Ecclesiastical councils met in Pontus. Gaul, in Rome, in Achaia, to decide the particular day and after a controversy more animated than grac-ious decided it, and now through all Christendom in some way the first Sunday after the full moon which Christendom in some way the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21 is filled with Easter rejoicing. The royal court of the Sabbaths is made up of filty-two. Fifty-one are princes in the royal household, but Easter is queen. She wears richer diadem, she sways a more jeweled sceptre, and in her smile nations are irradiated. How welcome she is when, after a harsh winter and late spring, she seems to step out of the snowbank rather than the conservatory, to come out of the north instead of the south, out of the arctic rather than the tropics, dis-mounting from the icy equinox, but welcome this queenly day, holding high in her right hand the wrenched off bolt of Christ's sepulchre and holding high in her left hand the key holding high in her left hand the key to all the cemeteries in Christendom.

My text is an ejaculation. It is spun out of hallelulahs. Paul wrote right on in his argument about the resurrection and observed all the laws of sic, but when he came to write the ords of the text his fingers and his pen and the parchment on which he wrote took fire, and he cried out, "Death is swallowed up in victory!" It is an exciting thing to cried out, "Death is swallowed up in victory?" It is an exciting thing to see an army routed and flying. They run each other down. They scatter everything valuable in the track. Unwheeled artillery; hoof of horse on breast of wounded and dying man. You have heard of the French falling back from Sedan, of Napoleon's track of 90.000 corpses in the snawbanks of 90,000 corpses in the snowbanks of Russia, of the retreat of our arm-ies from Manassas or of the five kings tumbling over the rocks of Beth horan with their armies while the hailstorms of heaven and the swords of Joshua's host struck them with their furn. with their fury.

The Charge of the Black Giant.

In my text is a worse discomfiture, It seems that a black glant proposed to conquer the earth. He gathered for his host all the aches and pains and malarias and cancers and dis-tempers and epidemics of the ages. He marched them down, drilling them in the northwest wind and amid the slush of tempests. He threw up har-ricades of grave mound. He pitched slush of tempests. He threw up harricades of grave mound. He pitched tent of charnal house. Some of the troops marched with slow tread commanded by consumptions, some in double guck commanded by pnet monias. Some he took by long is siegement of evil habit and some by one stroke of the battleax of casualty. With bony hand he pounded at the door of hospitals and sickrooms the door of hospitals and sickrooms and won all the victories in all the great battlefields of all the five continents. Forward, march! ordered the conqueror of conquerors, and all the generals and commanders in chief and all presidents and kings and sul-tans and czars dropped under the feet of his war charger. But one Christmas night his antagonist was

As most of the plagues and sick-nesses and despotisms come out of the east, it was appropriate that the the east, it was appropriate that the new conqueror should come out of the same quarter. Power is given him to awaken all the fallen of all the centuries and of all lands and marshal them against the black giant. Fields have already been treated to the control of the world's state of the wealth. won, but the last day of the world's existence will see the decisive battle When Christ shall lead forth his two brigades, the brigade of the risen dead and the brigade of the celestial host, the black giant will fall back, and the brigade from the riven sepulchres will take him from beneath, and the brigade of descending im-mortals will take him from above, and death shall be swallowed up in victory.

The old braggart that threatened the conquest and demolition of the planet has lost his throne, has lost his sceptre, has lost his palace, has lost his prestige, and the one word written over all the gates of mauso-leum and catacomb and accropolis. on cenotaph and sarcophagus, on the lonely khan of the arctic explorer and on the catafalque of great cath edral, written in capitals of azalia and calla lily, written in musical cadence, written in doxology of great assemblages, written on the sculptur-ed door of the family vault, is "Victory." Coronal word, embannered word, apocalyptic word, chief word of triumphal arch under which conquerors return.

Rout of the King of Terrors.

Victory! Word shouted at Culloden and Balaclava and Blenheim, at Me-giddo and Solfer no, at Marathon, where the Athenians drove back the Medes; at Poictiers, where Charles Martel broke the ranks of the Sara cens; at Salamis, where Themistocle in the great sea fight confounded th Persians, and at the door of the eastern cavern of chiseled rock, where Christ came out through a recess and throttled the king of terrors and put him back in the niche from which the celestial Conqueror had just emerged. Aha! When the jaws of the eastern mausoleum took down the black giant, "death was swallowed up in victory." I proclaim the abolition of death.

The old artagonist is driven back into mythology with all the lore about Styglan ferry and Charon with oar and boat. Melrose Abbey and Kenilworth Castle are no more in ruins, than is the sepulchre. We shall have no more to do with death than we have with the cloakroom at a governor's or a president's levee. We stop at such cloakroom and leave in charge of a servent our overcost. our overshoes, our outward apparel, that we may not be impeded in the brilliant round of the drawin; room. brilliant round of the drawing room. Well, my friends, when we go out of this world we are going to a King's banquet and to a reception of monarchs, and at the door of the tomb we leave the cloak of fieth and the wrappings with which we meet the storms of this world. At the close of an earthly reception, under the bright and broom of the porter. brush and broom of the porter, the coat or hat may be handed to us better than when we resigned it, and the cloak of humanity will finally be returned to us improved and bright-ened and purified and glorified.

You and I do not want our bodies returned as they are now. We want to get rid of all their weaknesses and all their susceptibilities to fatigue and all their slowness of locomotion. We want them the statement of the susceptibilities are fatigue. want them put through a chemistry of soil and heat and cold and chang-ing seasons, out of which God will reconstruct them as much better than they are now as the body of the ros-iest and healthiest child that bounds over the lawn in Central Park better than the sickest patient Bellevue Hospital. But as to our soul, we will cross right over, not waiting for obsequies, independent of obituary, into a state in every way better, with wider room and veloci-ties beyond computation, the dullest of us into companionship with the very best spirits in their very best mood, in the very parlor of the universe, the four wails burnished and paneled and pictured and glorified with all the splendors that the infinite God in all the ages has been able to invent. Victory!

The Urn or the Tomb.

This view, of course, makes it of but little importance whether we are cremated or sepultured. If the latter is dust to dust, the former is ashes is dust to dust, the former is ashes to ashes. If any prefer incineration, let them have it without cavil or protest. The world may become so crowded that cremation may be universally adopted by law as well as by general consent. Many of the mightiest and best spirits have gone through this process. Thousands and tens of thousands of God's children through this process. Thousands and tenz of thousands of Gcd's children have been cremated—P. P. Bliss and wife, the evangelistic singers, cremated by accident at Ashtabula bridge; John Rodgers, cremated by persecution; Latimer and Ridley, cremated at Oxford; Pothinus and Blandina, a slave, and Alexander, a physician, and their comrades cremated at the order of Marcus Aurelius; at least a hundred thousand of the control of an arcus Aurelians in the control of for the large acreage set apart for tery must be hauled over, and the resting places, but there is plenty of room yet, and the race need not pass that bridge of fire until it comes to and enlarged, and all the improve-it. A CLEVER BIT OF STRATEGY IN AN ENGINEE ... IG JOB.

How a Young American Engineer Brought His Spirit of Invention to Ald in Solving a Wreek Problem in south America.

"It is easy enough for an engineer to how ability in New York or in other by towns where he can get about all the tools and conveniences ever devised. It is when an engineer finds himself in the wilds of a jungle or up in the mountains, hundreds of miles from civilization, that his own natural ingenuity and invention count," said a veteran engineer to a youngster who had been admitted to the ranks of the Engineers' club.

"Down in Surinam, Dutch Guiana, where the arrival of a sailing schooner causes a sensation, where a mail steamer enters the muddy harbor once in two weeks to tarry two hours to get rid of its mail and to take on a few passengers, there was once a young American engineer who showed that he had the proper apirit of invention to advance blin to the front ranks of the profession. Like all the best inven-tions, his was the simplest one, and it was one that was widely talked about among the profession to the credit of the inventor.

"To understand the story properly you need a trifling insight into Surinam and its habits. Here Indians may be seen on the streets wearing only a The white population is breechcloth. so scarce that all are thrown together as if in one large family, Englishmen, Americans, Germans, Dutchmen and Frenchmen all combining together and forming clubs and society to keep themselves from dying of sheer lone someness.

"In this primitive town there was a man who held the splendid monopoly of owning a large scow. That, up there, seems a remarkably small thing to be proud of, but the value of even a scow depends entirely upon where the scow is and what it will cost to replace it. This particular scow had been built by American ship carpenters sent es pecially from the United States at great expense. There was not another scow in the entire harbor, and about all of the heavy river work to be done for the city and plantations and mining companies was done by this one vessel. Its loss, therefore, would have been not only a severe one for the owner, who had a monopoly of the business in those days, but it would have been little short of a national calam-

"One day, while the scow was anchored in midstream, one of those smashing black squalls for which the tropics are famous broke over the riv and for twenty minutes you could not see ten feet away or hear a man shouting at your elbow. When the storm finally abated, the scow was not to be seen, and it was found she had gone down, deck load and all. To most of us there seemed about as much chance of raising the vessel as there would be to raise an ocean steamer sunk in the middle of the Atlantic.

"It was about this time that the young engineer took a hand in the problem. He asked the dimensions of the scow and was told that it was 12 by 60 feet, and then be announced that if the owner would provide him with four men he would raise the scow for a certain sum of money. The bargain was made, though the contractor refused to say how he would go about

Now, you must know that aside from the ebb and flood tide, which alternate every six hours, there is also opposite to the spring tide is the neap tide, and that happens at the dark of the moon, with the effect that at no tween the ebb at neap tide and the flood at spring tide is considerable.

The engineer waited until neap tide. On that day he towed a number of logs down the river. These he anchored over the seew and sent men below to fasten chains to one side of the scow, and these he fastened to the logs on the surface. Then he waited patiently. As the spring tide approached he towed other logs down the river until he had enough to make quite a raft, and on the day of the highest tide all the logs were tied together and fastened. The tide rose steadily, and the more it rose the more the raft went down un-der the strain of the pull on the chains. At last, just as it seemed that the raft was unequal to the occasion, it was seen to bob up violently, and a moment later there was a commotion in the water, and the scow appeared. What had happened, of course, was this: The chains pulling upward on one side of the scow tilted it more and more until the deck load began to slide off, and finally, when all the stones had slid into the river, the scow came up under its own buoyancy. The remainder was simple. The vessel was towed to the shore, where it was hauled up on the sand, and when the water receded boles bored into the bull caused the scow to empty. Later the boles were plugged up again, and the old ship was as tine as silk."

Assorted Voices.

It is a well known fact that voices differ greatly according to nationality and geographical position. Thus, in Russia one hears male voices which are absolutely unique in the lowness of their compass. The Italians, on the other hand, are notable for their fine tenor voices. Some Asiatic nations. according to Engel, sing in shrill notes by straining the voice to its highest pich. Others delight in a kind of vibrato or tremolando. Some sing habitually in an undertone, others in a nasal tone.

Lichtenstein, in describing the singing of a Hottentot congregation in South Africa, observes that among all the singers, consisting of about 100 Hottentots of both sexes, there was not one man with a bass or baritone All the men had tenor voices. voice. The Chinese voices seem to bear some resemblance to the weak character of the people. A military man who had three years' service in the country declares that he never once heard a Chinaman sing from his chest.

The Laird's Last Drink

The remark of counsel in a will case the other day that there were two pecultarities about highlanders, their great devotion to the national drink and their power of absorbing whisky without apparently getting the worse for it, recalls the old story of how the laird of Garscadden took his last draft.

A considerable number of latrds had congregated in the clackan of law for the ostensible purpose of talking over some parish business. They talked well and drank still better, and one of them about the dawn of the morning, fixing his eye on Garscadden, remarked that he was "looking unco gash" (very ghastly).

Upon which the laird of Kilmardin ny coolly replied: "He has been wi' his Maker these twa hours! I saw him step awa', but I didna like to disturb guid company!"-London Chronicle.

POISONS--LIVER BILE DISORDERS.

Headaches, Biliousness and Constipation Are Thoroughly Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

There is no single organ in the human body which exerts such a wide influence over the other organs does the liver. It has been well named the regulator of the system. Once the liver grows singgish and fails to filter the bile poisons from the system, there comes pain, disease and death. The head aches, the tongue is coated, the bowels become constipated, the digestive system is thrown out of order, and foul impurities that removed from the body, are thrown back into the blood stream to find their way to the weak spots of the human frame.

Asking the farmwho chanced to be a Swede, if had a monkeywrench the astonished traveller received the following reply: "No. Ay got a cattle ranch; ma brother Ole haf a horse ranch; Nels Nelson haf a hog ranch ba de crick ofer dere, and a Jankee faller haf a sheep ranch bout five mile down da road; but Ay bet you no faller d— fool enough to start a monkey ranch in dese country."

Chronic derangements of the stomach, liver, and idead are specifily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the domant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and renewing it e and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years dectors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven entarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall a tatarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. In the Streets of Cairo.

One of the most picturesque places in the world is undoubtedly the Egyptian city of Cairo, and not the least of its attractions are the varied and often musical street cries which assail the in the spring and I find them an exears on all sides. Another street cry which may be heard in the main street of Abbassieh, a suburb, contains the following entieing announcement: "Tomorrow, O people, I am going to kill a camel. The doctor says it is young and healthy. Oh, its fiesh will be tender as the quall and juley as lamb. Its price is but 14 plasters (74 cents) the pound. Do you love the sweet flesh of a camel? Then come early and be satisfied!"

Not the least picturesque figures in the streets are the city police in their neat white and red uniforms in summer and blue serge in winter.

Glacier Ice.

Glacier ice is not like the solid blue ice on the surface of the water, but consists of granules joined together by an intricate network of capillary water filled fissures. In exposed sections and upon the surface of the ice can be observed "veined" or "banded" structure veins of a denser blue color alternating with those of a lighter shade containing air bubbles. cause of this peculiar structure has been the subject of much theorizing among investigators, but hitherto the greatest authorities consider that the explanation of the phenomenon is yet

THE SPRING FEELING

VARIABLE SPRING WEATHER DIS-ASTROUS TO WEAK PEOPLE.

Even Usually Robust People Feel Run Down and Out of Sorts at This Time-Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the Very Best Spring Tonic.

The spring months are a trying time to most people. At no other time of the year do health and strength seem so hard to gain and to hold. You do not feel that you are really sick, but you feel about as had as you could if you were seriously ill. That feeling ought to be got rid of—and it can be. What you need is a tonic to enrich the blood and free it from the impurities which have lodged in your system during the winter, and which are responsible for your present condition. Dr. Willer for your present condition. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only reliable, never-failing tonic medicine. These pills make new, rich blood, strengthen the nerves, and bring health and vitality to every organ in the body. They are an ideal spring medicine and the best thing in the world for all diseases having their origin in impoverished or impure blood. The case of Miss Belle Cohoon, White Rock Mills, N. S., is strong corrob-oration of these statements. She I was very much run down. The least exertion exhausted me. I seemed to lose ambition and a feeling of languor and sluggishness took its place. My appetite failed me and my sleep at nights was disturbed and restless. In fact I was in a pitiable condition. After trying two or three medicines without benefit, I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they speedily worked a change for the better and by the time I had used a half dozen boxes I felt stronger than I had done for years. I have since used the .pills

Why a Limpet Sticks.

The limpet has gained notoriety by the strength with which it adheres to the rock on which it decides to rest. The force required to detach the limpet from the rock has lately been tested by well known naturalist, who found that more than sixty pounds must be exerted for the purpose. So this little thing, weighing about half an ounce, sticks so tightly that a force equal to two thousand times its own weight is necessary to drag it away.

It was at one time supposed that atmospheric pressure had something to do with the adhesive power of the limnet, but it is now generally agreed that the creature exudes a kind of glue for this purpose. If you place your finger on the rock immediately after a limpet has been detached, you will feel that the surface is sticky, and if you allow your finger to remain there for a short time you will notice that it is beginning to stick quite tightly.

WHEN DOGS ARE SICK.

in all treatment of a sick dog re member you are dealing with a highly sensitive and nervous patient. Be very gentle, avoid roughness or anything likely to alarm blm. In giving blm any liquid medicine do not open his mouth, but, placing him between your knees, with his face looking in the same direction as your own, gently raise his jaw and, pulling his lips away from his teeth on one side of his mouth, to form a cup or funnel, very slowly pour from bottle or spoon the quantity he is to have into it.

Reep his head raised for a minute or two and if he does not swallow the dose insert a spoon between his front teeth. This will have the effect of drawing off his attention from the medicine and he will usually swallow at once. If the dose is a pill, bolus or anything solid, hold his head the same as before mentioned, but with the left hand under lower jaw, press firmly on each side with thumb and finger at the junction of upper and lower jaws.

This will usually cause him to open his mouth, when the dose should be put into the mouth as far back as possible over the tongue (or he will spit It out) and close the Jaws somewhat sharply, and in most cases the deed is If any trouble arises with the netion of his front paws this may be got over by wrappic; him round with n shawl or coarse r son.

When once you have got into the way of it, you will be surprised how simple It is. I am quite sure a practiced own er or kennelsman would dose a dozen dogs while a novice was making a bungle over one,-"All About Dogs." by Charles Henry Lane.

THE COLLAR BUTTON.

Its Blessings Realized Only by Those

Who linve Lived Without It. "In looking over a trunk full of old truck the other day," said the elderly man, "I came across a lot of old shirts with the buttons sewed on, and as I looked at them I realized anew what the collar button means to humanity There have been greater inventions, surely, but not many that have conferred a more unmixed blessing on mankind.

"The younger person of today, accustomed to the collar button always. cannot realize what it was to be without it. He can never know what it was to have shirts with the buttons sewed on-or not, as the case might be. Not so very many years ago, when the collar button was yet comparativekeep, as everybody commonly does now, a lot of buttons on hand, the man who had lost his collar button thought there. homself entitled to the sympathy of his backache, with a general feeling of fellows, but wrung as he might be by that loss he could not even guess at ney Pills invaluable. fellows, but wrung as he might be by that loss he could not even guess at the anguish that in the sewed on button days filled the heart of the man who, when he came to put on his tast clean shirt, found that key button, the one on the collar band, most important one of all, gone envirely or only just nanging by a thread!

"I knew a man once who had this happen to him and didn't swear. That was the only great thing he ever did. but I have always thought that that alone was enough to stamp him as a most extraordinary man."

Ditched the Bishop.

"I remember once driving across the country with Bishop —," writes Rev Cyrus Townsend Brady of "A Mission ary In the Great West" in the Ladies' Home Journal, "while discussing the nature of the seul. That is, the bishon was discussing. I was only prompting by a question now and then. We were on the rear seat of a wagon, with the driver on the front seat. It was a very dark night. In the middle of the bishop's exposition the wagon took a wild plunge, there was a crash, and over we went into the muddy ditch.

"I beg your pardon, gents," said the driver, who had retained control of the horses as we scrambled to our feet. was so interested in hearly the man discussin my immortal soul, which I bardly ever knowed that I had one be fore, that I clean forgot where we was and drove you plump into the ditch."

Better to Have Waited.

The other morning Jones turned up at the office even inter than usual His employer, tired of waiting for him. had himself set about registering the day's transactions, usually Jones' first The enraged merchant laid his pen aside very deliberately and sald to Jones, very sternly indeed, "Jones, this will not do!"

'No. sir," replied Jones gently, drawing off his coat as he glanced over his employer's shoulder, "it will not. You have entered McKurken's order in the wrong book. Far better to have waited till I came!".

A Thieves' Trick.

A mastiff was trained to assist thieves in Paris. It was in the habit of bounding against old gentlemen and knocking them over in the street. A "lady" and "gentleman"-owners of the dog-would then step forward to assist the unfortunate pedestrian to rise, and while doing so would ease him of his watch and purse.

ANOTHER HAPPY MOTHER.

Tells How Her Baby of Eight Months Profited by Wise Treatment.

Teething time is the critical age in a child's life. Any slight disorder in the stomach or bowels at that time greatly increases the peevishness of the little one, and may have serious and even fatal results. It is impos-sible to take too great care of your baby's health during this period, and no better remedy than Baby's Own Tablets is known for the minor ail-ments of childhood. Among the ments of childhood. Among the mothers who have proved the worth of this medicine is Mrs. R. McMaster, Cookstown, Ont. Her little baby girl was suffering from the combined trials if indigestion, constipation and teething, and the mother's strength was severely taxed by the continuous care the child needed. A box of Baby's Own Tablets, however, made such an im-provement that Mrs. McMaster is 'It gives me great pleasure to testi-fy to the value of Baby's Own Tab-lets,' she writes: 'Me but lets," she writes: "My baby of eight months was much troubled with constipation and indigestion, and was very restless at night. I procured a box of Baby's Own Tablets, and the results were so satisfactory that I have not used any other medicine since. My baby girl is now regular and healthy, and getting her teeth seems much easier and she rests a great deal better, These Tablets are a great help to little ones when teething."
